The Streeter Boy Makes a Brave Fight.

BUT IS DEFEATED IN THE 10TH ROUND.

Full Details of the Great Battle by Rounds—Happy McAluliffe—Dick Roche's Challenge to "Anybody in the Hall."

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—The battle for the light-weight championship of the world and $20,000 in purse and side bets was won by Dick McAluliffe in the fifteenth round. The fight, though shorter than was expected, was an exceedingly hot one. Myer had the advantage in the first round or two, but soon succumbed to the fierce rushes of the little lad. Although the fight was not begun until 9 o'clock on Thursdays the Olympic club house was besieged before 5 o'clock by hundreds of men who live in this city and all parts of the Union. It was not an agreeable day by any means, for the rain and wind were frequent intervals, but that had very little effect on the enthusiasm of the visitors to the city or the residents thereof.

Before 5 o'clock the arena was uncomfortably full of men who paid $15 for box seats, $10 for lower seats and $7.50 for seats in the gallery; and when ex-Mayor Guillot made the formal announcement that a contest for the light-weight championship of the world was to take place here, received a ringing cheer. As the ex-mayor finished his brief speech Prof. John Duffy, the official referee, climbed through the padded ropes, there was a howl of pleasure.

Round Six.—McAluliffe again led on the breast, but easily. Myer fell short with the left. McAluliffe got in a left hand on the breast, but Myer returned two heavy ones, one with either hand on the breast. In another instant Myer got in another right and in the clinch that followed McAluliffe went down. It was hardly a fair knock down for Myer, but the crowd was delighted to see Mac on the floor.

Round Eleven.—Myer was not so lively in coming to time, but made a rush with an effort. McAluliffe then rushed and got in left on the stomach and right on the head. In the clinch Myer's left, and McAluliffe's head, met. Myer was groggy still, but McAluliffe missed two blows intended for the head.

Round Twelve.—They sparred away but nobody hurt anything for a whole minute, when Mac led out left and right. Myer could make no return. Mac was smiling and Myer looked scared. Myer swung wild, both hands and Mac laughed.

Round Thirteen.—Myer came up with a blow under the chin, which was beginning to blacken. In a clinch Mac caught his man with a right on the stomach. Myer got in two weak blows on the ribs, and in a rally tried to uppercut Mac, who dodged.

Round Fourteen.—McAluliffe landed two blows on Myer's head, but in a clinch Myer got in a fearful right on Jack's ribs. McAluliffe rushed and Myer gave him two on the ribs and knocked.

Round Fifteen.—Both men came up. Myer rather weak and groggy. Terrible in fighting, both men landing heavily. McAluliffe leads and lands heavily on the neck. Myer goes down. Then McAluliffe can at his man and pounded him with left and right for the stomach and face. Myer went down and staid for six seconds. He arose very groggy and McAluliffe called him his champion. McAluliffe called him his champion and landed both. He again touched Myer in the face with his left. This he followed up with the left on the face and right on the side of the head. A rally and a clinch followed by both men missed and no harm was done. McAluliffe knew Myer was a fighter and a right-hand on the head of the head was followed when Myer got up at close quarters and in rushes. Both men were wild, but McAluliffe sent Myer down with a left-hand. Myer went to his corner somewhat groggy.

Round Three.—Myer opened this round with his left, but fell short. Mac caught him an upper cut, but not hard enough. Then came a rally and a clinch when Myer made another rush. Myer was hurt in this round, but both men at times were apparently a little tired.

Round Four.—McAluliffe missed both right and left, and Myer returned the compliment with vigor in the stomach. Had it not been for an upper cut, McAluliffe would have fallen. A moment later Myer fell to his knees from a blow in the stomach and Myer made a lunge at him. Gries of foul went up, but Myer did not hurt him. Mac again floored Myer by a blow in the neck. Myer got up quickly and ran at McAluliffe, who jumped away.

TUESDAY EVE, SEPT. 6, 1892

The old story that Wilkes Booth is still alive has again been revived.

Labor day was well observed in all the large cities of the north. The south gave it little attention.

There is still some talk of a western branch of the No-publican. National committee to be located at Chicago.

The President's letter of acceptance shows that he has taken no backward step on the important and vital question of fair elections.

BILLY PEAK has been whipped—whipped truly and well—and it is safe to predict that the public will have one less puzzle to trouble it.

When John L. Sullivan has finished his fight with Corbett he will probably again resume the notion of running for congress on the Democratic ticket in his district in Boston.

Gov. Fife has been forced on account of an acute affection of the throat to cancel his engagements to speak up to the 28th instant, at which time he will speak at the big Peoria rally.

Some Democratic organs seem to think that all that is necessary to put at rest any statement made about a Democratic candidate is for that candidate to deny the statement, notwithstanding the fact that the same candidate may daily be making falsehoods about the effects of the tariff that would put to shame Annanias.

This census office will, in a few days, issue a bulletin to the manufacturers of 100 cities, which it is said will corroborate the statement of Commissioner Peck's report and will show even a greater increase in wages due to the increased demand for labor by the operation of the McKinley tariff law, which is continually operating to build new industries and enlarge old ones.

THOMAS has broken out afresh between the two wings of the Democratic host in Chicago. Because the labor committee selected Frank Lawler as one of the orators on Labor Day, the Cregier wing accuses the Harrison wing of coveting to dictate the Labor Day program. It happens, however, that the labor committee asked neither wing to do its thinking. It made its own selection of speakers.

The Review has tried its hand at discrediting the report of Commissioner Peck. It don't like it because it shows the McKinley tariff law to be beneficial to American interests. It questions the honesty of the source from which Peck secured his facts. In the eyes of the Review nothing goes but the statement of some Democratic demagogue who was never inside factory in his life or performed a day's manual or skilled labor in his life. Such men know it all, and have a corner on honesty.

A. E. Stevenson said in his speech at Bloomingdale that the decade and a half extending from the low tariff law of 1840 to the beginning of the civil war was the golden era of our history. In this he does not agree with President Buchanan, who in his annual message says the end of that period deserved the deplorable condition of our laboring people and farmers, and it was also true that at that time the credit of the government was so poor that it had to pay 12 per cent interest on money to defray the expenses of government. Assembly Mr. Stevenson considers such a condition the proper thing for our people, and for that reason thinks it "a golden era."

Women of that colonization bugaboo of the Democratic state central committee is still able to stand alone. Think of it; $60 for the conviction of any man who attempts to register falsely. He recommends that they should be taught in training colleges how to produce the voice.

Had Not Slept For Years.
Mr. A. Jackson, an old resident of Rock, Texas, and manager of the magnificent hotel of Rock, informs us that he has not slept in his bed since he got in short nap owing to incessant pain. He was advised when very much run down to try Ballard's Hornbeam Syrup; he was immediately relieved of his trouble, and his rest improved to such a degree that he has been sleeping soundly ever since. He says, "I am now in the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect purity of the syrup is the two ingredients what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free. F. J. O'Connell & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

WOMEN teachers are, says Dr. Mendenhall, physician to the Throat Hospital, subject to a peculiar throat affection. He recommends that they should be taught in training colleges how to produce the voice.

Specimen Cases.
G. H. COOPER, New Canaan, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Bright's Disease, his stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Ballard's Hornbeam Syrup restored him to health, and he is now in full vigor again.

Edmund Stapp, Decatur, Ill., a running man of 160 lbs. of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Buckle's Arrow Root, and he is strong and well. John G. Stapp, Decatur, Ill., a running man of 160 lbs. of eight years, having lost his legs to his doctor and he was incapable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Buckle's Arrow Root cured him entirely. Sold at King & Wood's drug store.

LAURENCE Commissioner Peck now understands what Mr. Cleveland meant when he referred to the efficiency of Democratic clubs.

Shock at Labor's Reward.

Let all workmen observe how little attention the labor department gives to labor.

Labor Commissioner Peck's report proving that workmen's wages have increased the last year in New York.

The Democratic state central committee of course they do. The Democratic idea is that labor has no business to rise above absolute and continental wage.

The leaders of that party held that the end that the way to control labor and prevent it asserting any rights it might suppose it had, was for capital to own the labor, and the Democratic leaders when they made their effort to break the Binders, Chills and Burns, etc.

They have any of these symptoms, your Liver is out of order and your blood is slowly being poisoned, because your Liver does not act properly.

Remember when our countrymen in Europe got for the same work.

The condition the Democratic party want to bring about with no free trade, and this is the reason Peck's report makes them so mad.

That Constitutional Mistake.

We disclose any intention to seriously harrow the feelings of the Review when we called attention to the fact that the word "constitutional" had been dropped from the Democratic tariff plank as published by it. It seems, however, that in spite of the best care on our part the organ is determined to feel insulted. It is too late to cure this troubled spirit, but in making this admission we fully appreciate the fact that "what cannot be cured must be endured," and our task is ready for the scourge.

Be our contemporary protests too much. It was an unintentional error which would have been enough to say so in a few words. It happened, however, that attention was called to the omission about a week before the Review got consent of its mind to make the correction. It evidently intended to "trot it out," but later on concluded to right the wrong and stand by the record made by the Democratic party in Chicago.

The Review says it omitted the word

"constitutional" unintentionally. It may have done so, but the fact that other Democratic organs have printed at the head of the editorial columns repeatedly, notably the Louisville Courier-Journal, that the Democratic tariff plank without the word constitutional, puts the affair in such a light that to accept the Review's explanation in any other sense than as a joke or an evasion, is making a good deal.

In the statement made by Henry Wadsworth, published over his own signature in the Chicago News Record September 1, 1892, as to the Democratic position on the tariff, quoting the platform he quotes the word "constitutional." Now to believe the Review, the Courier-Journal other Democratic papers and lastly Henry Wadsworth himself omitted the word unintentionally is presuming a good deal upon the credibility of the average reader. The festive Democrat has hovered around the constitution too enthusiastically for the last thirty years for us to believe without an objection, that the whole tribe forged it unintentionally and simultaneously. The circumstances show that the whole business was intentional and the omission is the result of the desire of that party to retreat from the position it took on the tariff question.

Henry Wadsworth, I think, had a right to do this. From now on I will derive my information from the Review.

It is a good organ.
